

PhD Position for Orochen Heritage Students

The Department of Chinese and Bilingual Studies at the Hong Kong Polytechnic University is calling for application for a PhD student position to be involved in a digital museum/archives project aiming at preservation of Orochen cultural heritage in cooperation with the Earthpulse Foundation. In order to ensure sustainability of the Orochen heritage in our highly connected world, the project also aims to train a young scholar of Orochen ethnicity who can both faithfully interpret the cultural content as well as take ownership of future development as part of his/her own heritage.

Qualification of Applicants:

- Ethnic Orochen Student (please provide official document)
- Knowledge and commitment to Orochen heritage (please provide a brief statement in addition to your research proposal)
- Other applicable PolyU requirements for admission as PhD students
